

Report of the Secretary

Introduction

Always being made new. Always. Being made. New. Since these four words were chosen as the theme of the thirteenth Churchwide Assembly of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America on the occasion of its 25th anniversary, they have been much on my mind. As I have pondered these words, individually and collectively, I concluded that they represent a powerful and poignant way to look at this church at this moment in time, to reflect on its mission and ministry, to recall our 25 years together, and to look forward with expectant hope to the new future that God is constantly creating.

Why is this phrase—these four short words—so provocative? Let's look at it and ask the classic Lutheran question: "What does this mean?"

Let me suggest that the words themselves reveal three profound truths about the ELCA on its 25th anniversary. First, one cannot analyze what it means to be made new unless you know something about the past. Conceptually, something new replaces something old. Without knowing something about what went before, you cannot know what is truly new! In the case of the ELCA, this means that we must recognize that we are deeply rooted in the Gospel and that the context for mission and ministry is changing. Truly, we are deeply rooted in our faith but always being made new!

Second, verb tense matters! "Being made" is neither past tense nor future tense. What is being made new is neither something that already occurred nor is it something that will occur in the future. It's the present tense. But that is not entirely accurate. From a grammatical perspective, the words "being made" are the present perfect tense, i.e., something is in the process of being made new. The process is underway but not yet completed. We as the ELCA are transformed by the resurrected Christ and the Holy Spirit, but we are a work in progress.

Finally, because we are not yet fully "new" we do not yet know what that new future will be. As my beloved spouse, Barbara, frequently reminds me, the future is yet to be revealed. Because of our faith—that living, daring confidence in God's grace—we live in expectant hope of what that future will bring.

The theme of this assembly has had a powerful influence on me in multi-dimensional ways. From the perspective of the work of the Office of the Secretary, "Always being made new" reflects the significant issues that have been addressed in the past biennium. In addition to the ongoing responsibilities of the Office of the Secretary, challenges resulting from the actions of the Churchwide Assembly in 2009, particularly the disaffiliation of more than 650 congregations, the economic recession and the slow recovery, and the consequences of the redesign of the churchwide organization have created new demands on the Office of the Secretary, and we continue to live into the new reality of reduced income and capacity. At the same time, implementing the work of the Living Into the Future: Renewing the Ecology of the ELCA (LIFT) report has meant new opportunities for improving the structure and governance of the churchwide organization and a renewed commitment to strengthen and energize congregational ministry.

"Always being made new" also represents a profoundly personal theme to me. Last fall, after a lengthy and prayerful discernment process, Barbara and I decided that I would not seek re-election as secretary of the ELCA. This process was painful on many levels, but I came away from it with a new understanding of baptismal vocation and sense of purpose. I concluded that God is calling me to new ventures, all of which are not yet revealed, but the call will take us in a new direction as we return to the Northwest. As difficult as this decision was to make, we know that we were supported by the thoughts and prayers of many, many colleagues and friends, for which we will always be grateful.

With these perspectives in mind, let me turn to a review of the responsibilities of the Office of the Secretary, a discussion of work it has accomplished in the past biennium, and a few thoughts about the future. Despite many challenges—both foreseen and unforeseen—the Office of the Secretary has met its constitutional responsibilities and contributed to the mission and ministry of this church with professionalism and grace.

Foundational Principles

The Constitutions, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America are foundational documents of this church from a variety of perspectives. Undeniably, as Mr. Philip H. Harris, ELCA general counsel, emphasizes, they are legal documents that describe the organization and processes of this church and its ministry in each of its three expressions. As such, they delineate the polity, structure, and governance of this church, as well as the roles and responsibilities of its leaders. But they are much more! As the Rev. M. Wyvetta Bullock, executive for administration, correctly points out, they also are planning documents. By identifying responsibilities of various parts of this church and describing partners in ministry, they provide templates to facilitate both strategic and operational planning. But they are much more than legal documents and planning documents. They are missional documents!

Background: Missional Imperatives in the ELCA Governing Documents

Before turning to the legal aspects of the Constitutions, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, as they define the responsibilities and work of the Office of the Secretary, it is important to look at the missional imperatives embedded in them. As I travel throughout this church, I believe that it is important to sensitize and educate leaders regarding these elegantly drafted, missional governing documents.

The constitutions of congregations, synods, and the churchwide organization all contain parallel and substantively identical provisions that define who we are as the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. One of the first chapters is the “Confession of Faith,” which states unequivocally the following: “This church confesses the Triune God, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit” (ELCA constitutional provision 2.01). The next chapter is titled “Nature of the Church” and begins: “All power in the Church belongs to our Lord Jesus Christ, its head. All actions of this church are to be carried out under his rule and authority” (ELCA 3.01). After the chapters on the “Confession of Faith” and the “Nature of the Church” is a chapter on the purpose of this church, i.e., the ELCA. It begins with this provision: “The Church is a people created by God in Christ, empowered by the Holy Spirit, called and sent to bear witness to God’s creative, redeeming, and sanctifying activity in the world” (ELCA 4.01). The very next provision (ELCA 4.2) mandates that, in order to participate in God’s mission, this church shall:

- a. Proclaim God’s saving Gospel of justification by grace for Christ’s sake through faith alone, according to the apostolic witness in the Holy Scripture, preserving and transmitting the Gospel faithfully to future generations.
- b. Carry out Christ’s Great Commission by reaching out to all people to bring them to faith in Christ and by doing all ministry with global awareness consistent with the understanding of God as Creator, Redeemer, and Sanctifier of all.
- c. Serve in response to God’s love to meet human needs, caring for the sick and the aged, advocating dignity and justice for all people, working for peace and reconciliation among the nations, and standing with the poor and powerless and committing itself to their needs.
- d. Worship God in proclamation of the Word and administration of the sacraments and through lives of prayer, praise, thanksgiving, witness, and service.
- e. Nurture its members in the Word of God so as to grow in faith and hope and love, to see daily life as the primary setting for the exercise of their Christian calling, and to use the gifts of the Spirit for their life together and for their calling in the world.
- f. Manifest the unity given to the people of God by living together in the love of Christ and by joining with other Christians in prayer and action to express and preserve the unity which the Spirit gives.

In order to accomplish these purposes, the governing documents describe the polity of this church, its interrelationships, and the roles and responsibilities of leadership. Several provisions regarding polity are important to underscore. For example, the first sentence of ELCA constitutional provision 5.01 in the chapter titled “Principles of Organization” states: “The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America shall be one church.” Provision 8.11 in the chapter on “Relationships” describes the unique relationships among congregations, synods, and the churchwide organization as follows:

This church shall seek to function as people of God through congregations, synods, and the churchwide organization, all of which shall be interdependent. Each part, while fully the church, recognizes that it is not the whole church and therefore lives in a partnership relationship with the others.

It is in the context of these provisions that the work of the churchwide organization and the responsibilities of the officers and units are defined. The responsibilities of the churchwide organization and its relationship with other parts of the ELCA are contained in constitutional provision 11.11, as follows:

The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America shall have a churchwide organization that shall function interdependently with the congregations and synods of this church. The churchwide organization shall serve on behalf of and in support of this church's members, congregations, and synods in proclaiming the Gospel, reaching out in witness and service both globally and throughout the territory of the church, nurturing the members of this church in the daily life of faith, and manifesting the unity of this church with the whole Church of Jesus Christ.

Subsequent provisions in Chapter 11 describe the specific purposes of the churchwide organization. These include the following: to undergird the worship life of this church; to provide resources for worship, learning, and service; to coordinate this church's mission; to foster interdependent relationships with congregations, synods, and other partners; to establish and maintain ecumenical relationships; to provide for a comprehensive financial support system for this church's mission; to provide official rosters of ordained ministers and other leaders; and many more! These multiple and diverse responsibilities are allocated among offices and units of the churchwide organization, but it is increasingly important to recognize that they are a part of a complex ecosystem that requires faithful oversight and imaginative coordination. One of the ongoing joys and challenges of serving as secretary is learning about and participating in the leadership of the diverse elements of this church!

Before turning to the particular responsibilities of the secretary, it is important to underscore one other constitutional mandate that addresses leaders in this church. That provision is found in Chapter 5, "Principles of Organization." Constitutional provision 5.01.h states:

Leaders in this church should demonstrate that they are servants by their words, life-style, and manner of leadership. Leaders in this church will recognize their accountability to the Triune God, to the whole Church, to each other, and to the organization of this church in which they have been asked to serve.

Responsibilities of the Secretary

With this background, what are the responsibilities of the secretary of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America? Constitutional provision 13.41 establishes the overarching responsibility:

The secretary of this church shall serve under the presiding bishop of this church, providing leadership as specified in Chapter 11 of this church's constitution, bylaws, and continuing resolutions, and shall fulfill the normal functions of the secretary of a corporation.

Under this broad mandate, the governing documents delineate specific responsibilities in bylaw 13.41.02, as follows:

The secretary shall:

- a. Be responsible for the minutes and records of the Churchwide Assembly, Church Council, Executive Committee, and Conference of Bishops, and shall receive complete minutes for permanent record of all boards and committees of the churchwide organization.
- b. Maintain the rosters of ordained ministers, all other rostered persons, congregations, and synods.
- c. Provide for the publication of official documents and policies of this church, pre-assembly reports, assembly minutes, a directory of congregations, rostered persons, and entities of this church, and other informational and statistical material.
- d. Receive the annual report of the congregations in a form devised by the secretary, summarize the information, and make the summary available to this church.
- e. Coordinate the use of legal services by the churchwide organization.
- f. Be responsible for the archives of this church.
- g. Implement and operate a records management system for the churchwide organization.
- h. Arrange for and manage meetings of the Churchwide Assembly and Church Council.
- i. Have custody of the seal, maintain a necrology, and attest documents.

In addition, other provisions in Chapter 13 also allocate to the secretary responsibilities for preparation and amendment of this church's governing documents (13.41.03), providing constitutional and bylaw interpretations (13.41.04), staffing the Nominating Committee and addressing vacancies on boards and committees (13.41.05), and overseeing risk management and insurance responsibilities of the churchwide organization in collaboration with the Office of the Treasurer (15.13.A10).

While these provisions delineate the constitutional requirements of the secretary, they do not fully describe the multi-faceted responsibilities of the position from the perspective of an elected officer of this church. As a lawyer with a deep interest in governance and leadership, I believe that responsibilities of the secretary are much more complex and integral to the health of the churchwide organization. Structurally, the secretary is a leader in this church as a member of the Administrative Team of the churchwide organization, a member of the Conference of Bishops, a member of the Church Council, and a voting member of the Churchwide Assembly. In addition, the secretary is called upon to represent this church at Synod Assemblies, at synodical and congregational gatherings, in ecumenical settings, and in a wide variety of other contexts. During my tenure, I also have had the privilege to serve as an advisory member of the boards of trustees of Augsburg Fortress, Publishers and Portico Benefit Services and a consultant to the LIFT task forces. In all of these situations, the secretary must not only speak with clarity and boldness about the work of this church, but she or he must contribute to all aspects of leadership—fiduciary, strategic, and generative.

These leadership responsibilities also mean that the secretary must have a deep and confident understanding of the polity and ecclesiology of this church and its missional priorities. This requires both an understanding of the governing documents and the history of this church, as well as its current strategic and operational plans. This also means that the secretary must be able to analyze and provide opinions on the interpretation of the governing documents and to draft amendments and legislative actions consistent with them. Sometimes the secretary must be the person to opine that a proposed action is not consistent with the governing documents of this church.

The responsibilities of the secretary also require a personal commitment to collaborative leadership and the development of rich and rewarding relationships with other officers. As I will discuss in more detail below, the commitment of this church to shared leadership between rostered leaders and lay persons provides a unique opportunity to develop synergistic leadership to enhance the mission and ministry of this church. This philosophical commitment to collaborative leadership and the proactive commitment to develop and nurture relationships may be the most important personal attributes of the person elected to serve as secretary.

Staff of the Office of the Secretary

The Office of the Secretary is blessed to have a knowledgeable and dedicated staff, the members of which faithfully serve the churchwide organization as well as provide assistance to synods, congregations, and individuals. Each day brings new questions and new issues, and the individuals in the Office of the Secretary respond with energy, enthusiasm, and excellence! It is a joy to be able to thank them publicly for their work!

Churchwide Assembly Assistant . . . . .	Ms. Natalie Young

In this biennium, the Office of the Secretary experienced two significant departures. Ms. Loraine Shields retired as legal assistant after almost 25 years of service. We are deeply appreciative of the dedication and experience that she brought to the Office of the Secretary! In late 2012, the Rev. Ruth E. Hamilton left the Office of the Secretary to accept a call at St. Luke Lutheran Church in Atlanta, Ga. Pastor Hamilton provided superb leadership as the executive for administration in the Office of the Secretary; her expertise contributed significantly to the work of the office, and her friendship contributed substantially to making this position so rewarding. While we were sad to say goodbye to Ruth, the Office of the Secretary was blessed to call Ms. Sue E. Rothmeyer as her replacement. Sue has brought a deep understanding of this church into this position as well as a conscientious commitment to serve this church.

Priorities and Special Projects

As I have reported to the Churchwide Assembly previously, the ongoing responsibilities of the Office of the Secretary, as described above, require clear vision and substantial effort by the secretary and staff. These responsibilities also ebb and flow depending on the work of others in the churchwide organization and the time of year (i.e., the proximity to the Churchwide Assembly). Nonetheless, I want to hold out briefly a number of special projects and priorities on which I have placed special emphases in the past biennium. Indeed, some of these have been priorities since my election in 2007.

Implementing Churchwide Assembly Actions and the Churchwide Organization Operational Plan

Since 2007, the Churchwide Assembly has been asked to consider many important issues. A significant number of such issues have necessitated preparing, reviewing, and vetting numerous proposed amendments to the governing documents, and the implications of these amendments will continue to guide and inform the work of this church into the future. “Always being made new” has particular significance in the context of the structure and governance of the ELCA.

Two groups of decisions in particular have had far-reaching impacts on this church in ways that have profoundly affected the work of the Office of the Secretary. In 2009, the adoption of the social statement Human Sexuality: Gift and Trust and new ministry policies have impacted the church in multiple, diverse, and complex ways. The Office of the Secretary was called upon to respond by revising governing documents and policies, both directly related to the actions and indirectly resulting from the redesign of the churchwide organization. Numerous proposed amendments related to the redesign were adopted at the 2011 Churchwide Assembly, and their implementation has been challenging and complex.

The LIFT report resulted in many proposed amendments adopted by the Churchwide Assembly in 2011, and many new proposals that will be considered at this assembly. For example, the Churchwide Assembly adopted significant governance proposals made by the LIFT Task Force, including the change to a triennial cycle for the Churchwide Assembly and expansion of the size of the Church Council. Implementing these changes means that new proposals will be considered by the Churchwide Assembly in 2013. For example, proposed amendments will establish a formula so that the Churchwide Assembly will have approximately 1,000 members prospectively; allow for the election of additional Church Council members based on expertise, demographics, and factors other than geography; provide for youth voting members on the Church Council; and authorize the election of members from full communion churches to the boards of trustees of separately incorporated ministries.

A byproduct of Churchwide Assembly decisions in 2009 has been the actions of congregations to disaffiliate from the ELCA. An analysis of the impact of these disaffiliations is provided below. In the present context, it is important to point out that amendments to the governing documents were adopted in 2011 to clarify the process for congregations to terminate their relationship with the ELCA. The Office of the Secretary has worked closely with synod bishops and their staffs to explain and implement these revised processes and to provide advice and support in difficult circumstances. Fortunately, the rate of disaffiliations has dropped dramatically since mid-2012.

In 2011, the churchwide organization adopted an Operational Plan to guide its work through the biennium. Drawing upon the plan for mission and the work of the LIFT Task Force, the operational plan articulated six goals and identified numerous objectives and key result indicators under them. As part of the Administrative Team and senior leadership table, the secretary has had a role in developing and overseeing the Operational Plan. With respect to responsibilities for implementation, the work of the Office of the Secretary principally has addressed Goal Five: “Governance of the ELCA is strengthened in ways that support the future vitality, sustainability, and effectiveness of this church and the churchwide organization.” Objectives under this goal include implementing the governance-related actions of the 2011 Churchwide Assembly and the LIFT recommendations; strengthening the Church Council; developing the use of technology to support governance; strengthening the role of the Conference of Bishops in governance; engaging in conversations with full communion partners on governance issues; and exploring ways that new voices can be heard in the ELCA in order to expand participation and improve governance. Significant progress has been made in moving forward on these objectives.

Other Proposed Amendments to the Constitutions, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions

In addition to following up on governance and structural issues related to the LIFT report and the redesign of the churchwide organization, the Office of the Secretary continued its practice to periodically review and update the governing documents of this church. This periodic review process has resulted again in many proposed amendments for consideration at the 2013 Churchwide Assembly. All these amendments have been reviewed and vetted through the Legal and Constitutional Review Committee, and the Church Council has reviewed them and forwarded them to the Churchwide Assembly with the recommendation for approval. While some are technical in nature, a number are important and warrant brief mention.

- Provisions relating to synods (ELCA constitutional provisions 8.13 and 10.21 and †S.6.03 and accompanying bylaws) clarify and strengthen the description of synodical responsibilities.
- Revised provisions relating to approving congregational constitutional amendments by synods are being proposed.
- A revised bylaw (ELCA 12.12.01) will clarify the process for creation, review, and approval of social statements.
- Proposals are being made to clarify and streamline the process of member discipline (Chapter 20 of the ELCA constitution and *C15.01 et seq. in the Model Constitution for Congregations).
- Provisions authorizing electronic notice for congregation meetings and authorizing congregation councils to hold electronic meetings are proposed.

Work of the Archives

Work of the ELCA archives also was a priority in the past biennium. Located at the ELCA archives building in Elk Grove Village, Ill., the archivists collect, catalogue, store, and provide resources for studying the rich history of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and its predecessor church bodies. In this assembly, you will see the work of the archives through images and recordings of this church over the years.

Two particular aspects of the work of the archives warrant mention. With the assistance of a generous grant from Thrivent, the archives have been working on an oral history project for several years. “Voices of Vision—the ELCA at 25” has sought to take oral and video histories from important ELCA leaders, focusing primarily on the early years of this church. In addition, at each of the past two assemblies, voting members have shared their thoughts, ideas, and experiences on tape in “I Love to Tell the Story: My ELCA.” At this assembly, voting members again will have the opportunity to tell their stories of the history of the ELCA, and the whole assembly will be able to see portions of the oral history project as part of the 25th anniversary celebration.

The archives also have been working on a significant development that promises to assist synods, to facilitate record keeping, and to recognize the commitment of this church to care for creation. It is the synodical online digital archives (SODA). This digital archive allows synods to upload their records—including Synod Assembly documents and minutes—to a central archive. In addition, synod constitutions, policies and procedures, and documents adopted by Synod Councils also can be uploaded and stored. If a synod uploads its updated constitution and Synod Assembly minutes and book of reports, it no longer needs to provide paper copies of these documents to the Office of the Secretary or keep paper copies in the synod office. As of February 2013, 46 synods have uploaded documents to SODA—a 70 percent participation rate. It is our hope that by the 2016 Churchwide Assembly, all synods will use SODA and reduce the quantity of paper maintained in synod offices.

Risk Management

The ELCA governing documents allocate risk management responsibilities to the Office of the Secretary in collaboration with the Office of the Treasurer. This biennium has seen unusual, important, and difficult challenges in the work of risk management. However, the situation as we approach the 2013 Churchwide Assembly is encouraging and a tribute to the exceptional work done by Mr. Rob Thoma, the ELCA director for risk management, the oversight of the legal team in the Office of the Secretary, the collaborative leadership in the Office of the Treasurer, and the strengthening relationship with Church Mutual Insurance Company (CMIC), the endorsed insurer.

Partly because of my background and experience as a lawyer and partly because of work that had been done prior to my taking office, CMIC was selected to provide the endorsed insurance program of the ELCA in 2008. At that time and subsequently, CMIC committed to work with the ELCA churchwide organization, synods, and congregations to put together an excellent insurance program and to provide risk management assistance. Despite many challenges—in the economy, in the insurance industry, and in this church—CMIC has stepped up to provide invaluable assistance and an excellent product for the churchwide organization, synods, and congregations. As of early 2013, 47 synods and approximately 3,900 congregations were insured through CMIC. In addition, I want to thank the ELCA's broker, Mr. Gary Baltusis, senior vice president of Willis, for his expertise and perseverance for assisting this church in navigating the complex world of insuring a church body. It also is important to point out that the churchwide organization, CMIC, and Willis provide many resources to assist synods and congregations in addressing risk management, and links are available on the Office of the Secretary webpages to many such resources.

The work of the risk management team is even more impressive in light of the challenges that have arisen during the past six years. For example, evaluating the insurance implications of a Conference of Bishops trip to the Holy Land when war had broken out in the Gaza Strip was an experience not to be forgotten! Even more challenging were the issues that arose concerning pension plans after the collapse of financial markets in 2008–2009. Two significant and complex class action lawsuits were filed against the ELCA in federal court in Minnesota resulting from the termination of the defined benefit pension plan at Augsburg Fortress, Publishers and the decision by the Board of Pensions to reduce annuity payments for three years. These lawsuits superimposed significant oversight responsibilities on the Office of the General Counsel, and Mr. Phil Harris and Mr. Dave Ullrich responded with expertise and dedication. As my term winds down, the ELCA is no longer a party in the Portico annuity case, and the federal judge in Minneapolis denied class certification in that case. In the Augsburg Fortress case, a settlement was reached and approved by the court, and the case has concluded.

While these two retirement plan lawsuits have required enormous resources and energy, it is important to point out that the Office of the General Counsel oversees other litigation matters involving this church. Unfortunately, sexual misconduct claims continue to appear from time-to-time, despite the proactive efforts of the Office of the Secretary and others in this church to educate leaders about boundaries and misconduct prevention. The ELCA's consultant on these matters, Ms. Barbara Keller, deserves special and heartfelt thanks for her wisdom, compassion, and expertise in working with victims and in educating leaders in this church in responding to allegations of sexual misconduct. We need to ensure that every ELCA member understands that there is no tolerance for sexual misconduct in this church and that it is a priority to train leaders both to respond to allegations of misconduct and to take steps for its prevention.

In my tenure, an unexpected challenge surfaced in a number of synods. Six synods were victims of embezzlement, some of which were very substantial. The net result of these embezzlements was the need to restructure the crime insurance package for synods. Although it initially appeared that synods would have difficulty in finding coverage to replace the churchwide policy that had been cancelled, CMIC assisted synods in the endorsed insurance program, and other synods apparently found substitute coverage. An excess crime policy covering losses over $100,000 was obtained by the churchwide organization, and this policy covers synods as well.

The troubling aspect of this situation is that the governing documents of this church provide for financial controls in all the expressions of this church, and resources are available on the ELCA website explaining best practices and suggesting approaches to minimize embezzlement and financial misconduct. In responding to the potential insurance crisis, Treasurer Linda O. Norman and I wrote a letter to the excess crime insurer (Chubb Insurance Company) and explained the resources available and the commitments of this church to sound financial policies and oversight. These unfortunate episodes emphasize the importance of carefully following the provisions in the governing documents of synods and congregations, and also to periodically reviewing and examining risk management practices to ensure that they are up-to-date and adequate.

Another aspect of risk management warrants brief mention. The Office of the Secretary and the Office of the Treasurer have been working on enterprise risk management (ERM) during this biennium. The purpose of ERM is to identify, evaluate, and develop mitigation strategies to address all enterprise risks—not just those covered by insurance. Portico has engaged in ERM for several years, and it promotes a company-wide sensitivity of the importance of leadership to understand and appreciate risk management. Work remains to be accomplished, but in the next few years ERM will become embedded in the DNA of the churchwide organization.

Other Duties as Assigned

During the past six years a number of other important activities involved a substantial commitment of time, but the work was both personally rewarding and important to ongoing ministries of this church. Three such activities warrant special mention.

First, as the bishop's designee, I participated in the board of trustees of Portico Benefit Services. This was a remarkable time to serve on this board, and I was delighted to do so having previously served as a trustee. These six years have been turbulent at Portico. In addition to the annuity lawsuit, Portico bid farewell to longtime president and colleague Mr. John Kapanke, and called the Rev. Jeff Thiemann to replace him. Pr. Thiemann has brought remarkable wisdom, expertise, and energy to Portico, and he has become a friend and colleague. Furthermore, passage of the Affordable Care Act (aka health care reform) and its potential impact on ELCA employing entities have posed significant challenges, and Portico has stepped forward to provide indispensable leadership during this period of transition. Coping with health care reform also has necessitated re-visiting the ELCA Philosophy of Benefits, and working with Portico—especially with the Rev. Bob Berg and Mr. Brad Joern—has been both an education and a delight. While the future in retirement and health care plans is unclear, the ELCA is fortunate to have Portico and its dedicated staff and trustees to guide us through the process.

Second, and closely connected with Portico, is the corporate social responsibility work of the ELCA. As part of its advocacy work, the ELCA seeks to bring its voice to advocate for corporate social responsibility. This work has a number of aspects, including development and review of issue papers based on ELCA social statements, the creation and review of social screens for investments based upon them, dialogues with companies regarding issues of importance to the church, and filing of shareholder resolutions. This work suffered a setback in the original restructuring of the churchwide organization, but it was re-claimed and re-energized, and new protocols were established. Thanks to the excellent work of CSR consultant Ms. Pat Zerega and a deepened relationship with Portico, corporate social responsibility work has continued. In addition to issue papers and social screens on investments, this work encompasses corporate dialogues and filing of shareholder resolutions. Taken collectively, this work seeks to reflect a commitment to engagement and advocacy in the corporate arena.

Third, I have had the good fortune to serve as an advisor on the board of trustees of Augsburg Fortress, Publishers. This has been a blessing because I have learned about the ministry of publishing and the dedicated work of AFP employees and trustees. At the same time, I have acquired important leadership tools from my friend and colleague Ms. Beth Lewis. These experiences and memories will remain with me in the next chapter of my vocational odyssey.

Collaboration with Synods

Collaboration with synod bishops, as well as their staffs and vice presidents, on issues of mutual concern and interest remains an important priority in the work of the Office of the Secretary. Facilitating such collaboration represents interdependence in action. A number of examples illustrate the importance of this work.

The Office of the Secretary continues to work closely with bishops and Synod Councils to assist in their preparation for Synod Assemblies. This collaboration has occurred in a number of ways. Each winter, the Office of the Secretary prepares and disseminates to synods a memorandum on submission of memorials and resolutions to the churchwide organization. This document is intended to assist synods in preparing for their Synod Assemblies and to provide instructions and tips on processing requested actions at them. In addition, in the past few years, we have worked more proactively with synods to assist in addressing proposed memorials, resolutions, and other actions. For example, in collaboration with the Executive for the Conference of Bishops in the Office of the Presiding Bishop, we convene telephone conferences of synod bishops and vice presidents to share ideas and to learn about issues of mutual importance. In a number of instances, these conferences have resulted in conferring about and addressing common resolutions and memorials in consistent ways.

As in past years, the Office of the Presiding Bishop and Office of the Secretary also have worked closely with synods in which there is a bishop's election. Because of the number of bishop elections in 2013, the Rev. Walter May, Mr. Kenn Inskip, and I collaborated on the development of a Toolkit for Synod Bishop Elections. The Toolkit consists of an updated version of the Guidelines for Synod Bishop Elections as well as a number of other resources for synods engaged in bishop election processes. (The Toolkit is available online at this link: www.ELCA.org/SynodToolkit.) In addition, we again held telephone conferences with leadership in every synod in which a bishop election would be held. This represents a vivid example of interdependent collaboration as well as a meaningful step to live into the strategic objective to raise up and support faithful, wise, and courageous leaders. As a result, more and more synods have engaged in reflective discernment regardless of the process utilized to nominate and elect their bishops.

I have continued to be a peripatetic secretary, traveling throughout this church to confer with synods and other groups on matters of polity, structure, governance, administration, and even stewardship! I estimate that by the time that my term ends, I will have participated in events on the territory of more than two-thirds of the synods in this church.

These experiences have been informative and enriching from my perspective, and I continue to give thanks for the ministry that I have observed throughout this church and for the relationships that I have developed!

This summary fails to reflect adequately the close collaboration between the Office of the Secretary and synods. It would not be surprising for a visitor to the Office of the Secretary to find three or four staff on the telephone or in email communication with different synods on different issues. We understand what it means to provide such service in a collegial and gracious manner since we are all part of the ELCA!

Preparation for the Churchwide Assembly

Once the calendar turns to the year of a Churchwide Assembly, the pace of activity in the Office of the Secretary accelerates dramatically. For the 2013 Churchwide Assembly, Jodi Slattery, the assistant to the presiding bishop for governance, has stepped into the leadership of the Churchwide Assembly Planning Team with grace and diligence, and she has done an excellent job in coordinating the myriad aspects of assembly planning. As in past years, Mary Beth Nowak in the Office of the Secretary again has amazing expertise and energy in coordinating the logistical arrangements for the assembly. Many others also worked diligently to ensure that the assembly is successful.

The 2013 Churchwide Assembly will be remarkable for many reasons.

First, this assembly will reflect in dramatic ways the commitment of this church to care for creation. It is being held at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center, the only LEED certified platinum convention center of its size in the world. In addition, almost all documents for the assembly will be available electronically. For the first time, the Pre-Assembly Report will be available to everyone electronically, so all ELCA members will have access to it. In addition, almost all voting members will use electronic devices at the assembly—principally iPads—instead of pages in a binder. Thus, as part of our commitment to care for creation, we are close to being “Paperless in Pittsburgh!” While the total calculation of paper saved cannot yet be made, we currently estimate that the use of the e-binder will save in excess of 500,000 pages of paper!

Second, registration for the assembly is being handled electronically on the Net Community website. This has resulted in some transition complexities, but in the end it will facilitate registration and tracking of assembly voting members and participants. Taken together, the e-binder, online registration, electronic voting machines, and the new microphone queuing system mean that this assembly will be transformative with respect to the way that it is organized and held!

Third, in part due to officer elections and in part due to a desire to better prepare voting members, a number of aspects of orientation have been improved. The initial orientation video with the vice president, Mr. Carlos Peña, was posted online much earlier this year than in previous assemblies. In addition, a second orientation video addressing the ecclesiastical ballot process was posted in early 2013. This video is very important so that voting members understand not just the mechanics of the balloting (although that is important) but the significance of officer elections as call processes involving discernment by voting members and others in this church.

Fourth, the Office of the Secretary continues to monitor the composition of the assembly. Although the composition of the voting membership always changes somewhat, analysis of the preliminary data is very encouraging. Based upon preliminary information provided by synods, approximately 61 percent of the 952 voting members are lay persons. Of the ordained ministers, approximately 40 percent are women (in comparison with 23 percent of all rostered ordained ministers). Of the total number of voting members, approximately 13 percent are persons of color or whose primary language is other than English. Approximately 17 percent of voting members are 30 or younger!

One other aspect of Churchwide Assembly planning warrants brief mention. The Nominating Committee met in Chicago in late April, and once again it worked diligently to fill slates for the Church Council, churchwide committees, and the boards of separately incorporated ministries. This work has been facilitated by the computer conversation that means that the nominations database is now part of the churchwide organization’s ECIS system. That is the good news, but I still am disappointed that we have not been able to substantially increase the depth and breadth of our pool of potential nominees. We ask ourselves to better reflect the church that God is calling us to be, and we bemoan the lack of outstanding young nominees and persons of color. Yet we do not raise up and support (and nominate!) such leaders. I look forward to the day that the nominating committee has hundreds of potential nominees representing all the diversity in the church from which to nominate persons for important leadership positions.

Congregational Reports and Statistical Analysis

As indicated above, the responsibilities of the Office of the Secretary include maintaining the rosters of this church as well as compiling and reporting congregational statistics. In the past several years, this responsibility has included tracking and analyzing data regarding congregations disaffiliating from the ELCA.

Interest in and analysis of demographic data have taken on expanded importance at a time of diminishing resources, re-evaluation of the roles of synods vis-à-vis congregations and the churchwide organization, and a large number of synod bishop elections. In synods addressing bishop elections, the work of the Research and Evaluation team in providing synod-specific demographic analysis has been universally appreciated and has served as the basis for provocative discussions about future directions in synodical mission and ministry. (For a review of this data, see the following link: www.ELCA.org/SynodStatistics.) Modifications to Form A made in 2009 and revisions to Form C made for 2012 should provide improved data for analysis by all expressions of this church. Despite the importance of such data and analyses, it is disappointing that response rates for congregational reports have not increased in the past few years.

Congregational Statistics

Appendix A to this report is the current form of the congregational report, Forms A and C. Appendix B to this report is a summary of roster statistics. This includes data on the roster of congregations, the roster of ordained ministers, and the roster of laypersons (including associates in ministry, deaconesses, and diaconal ministers.)

During my oral report, I will comment on aspects of these data. A summary of statistical data is contained in Appendix C. Synod-specific statistical analysis is available on the ELCA website at www.ELCA.org/Research.

Disaffiliation Data and Analysis

Since the Churchwide Assembly in 2009, the Office of the Secretary has been tracking and analyzing the impact of congregations that have voted to disaffiliate from the ELCA. Beginning in the fall of 2012, we ceased providing monthly updates because of the declining rate of disaffiliations. The statistics below are through the end of 2012 and reflect disaffiliations since the Churchwide Assembly in 2009.

- 947 congregations have taken a total of 1026 first votes to disaffiliate
- 713 first votes passed
- 313 first votes failed (33 percent)
- 689 second votes have been taken
- 654 second votes passed
- 35 second votes failed (5 percent)
- 643 congregations have been officially removed from the roster of congregations in the ELCA

Of course, these statistics do not reflect the full meaning of these congregations' departures from the roster of the ELCA, nor do they fully recognize the disparity of impact among synods and communities and the pain experienced in individual circumstances. For example, three synods lost more than 15 percent of their congregations (Southwestern Texas, Western Iowa, North Carolina) while nine synods lost one or no congregations (Alaska, Arkansas-Oklahoma, Caribbean, Metropolitan Chicago, Metropolitan Washington, D.C., Metropolitan New York, New England, New Jersey, and Slovak Zion).

The settings of disaffiliating congregations also vary widely. More than 67 percent are in rural settings or communities of less than 10,000. At the same time, the ELCA has lost 21 percent of its congregations worshipping 800 or more. Almost two-thirds of disaffiliating congregations report that they have joined either Lutheran Churches in Ministry for Christ (LCMC) or the North American Lutheran Church (NALC). Less than 1 percent report affiliation with the Lutheran Church–Missouri Synod. See Appendix D for further analysis of disaffiliating congregations.

The ELCA Constitution, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions required congregations seeking to disaffiliate to follow a process requiring consultations and two separate congregational meetings. The purpose of the process was to provide congregational members accurate information and due process. Most of the responsibility for consulting with congregations fell on synodical bishops, and they deserve our heartfelt appreciation and thanks for shepherding their synods and congregations through these often difficult and sometimes contentious processes. On behalf of the Office of the Secretary and this whole church, thank you to these leaders, and the synod officers and staff who supported them, for this remarkable effort and ministry on our behalf!

I will provide you updated information in my oral report at the Churchwide Assembly.

Unfinished Business

It is a truism in the performance of any work that there always will be “unfinished business.” When I arrived at the Lutheran Center in the fall of 2007, my goals included building on the legacy of the Rev. Lowell Almen, while at the same time bringing a fresh perspective and new emphases to the work of the Office of the Secretary. Now that six years have passed, I am delighted to report that the Office of the Secretary functions effectively as the “oil in the engine” of the ELCA and a number of successful initiatives have been undertaken to coordinate its work with the work of the other officers and unit executives. In addition, the challenges of responding to the decisions of the 2009 Churchwide Assembly, declining mission support, congregational disaffiliations, and the restructuring of the Churchwide Assembly have substantially complicated the routine work of the Office of the Secretary and required rearranging priorities.

This report addresses many aspects of the priorities of the Office of the Secretary and its ongoing work. I also want to share some unfinished business and some disappointments.

First, I was honored to participate in the work of the LIFT Task Force, and it incubated both important discussion and ideas for moving this church forward toward being a reformation church in the 21st century. Its successes included a focus on energizing congregations and encouraging mission planning. In terms of governance and structure, most of the LIFT recommendations have been translated into governing document amendments. These amendments included: the change to a triennial Churchwide Assembly; strengthening the relationship between the Conference of Bishops and the Church Council; expanding the Church Council to include persons chosen for expertise, representational principles, and factors other than geography; encouraging the development of networks; and many others. My concern is that amending governing document provisions and creating new ones do not, in themselves, lead to improved governance and enhanced ministry. Governing document amendments are salutary, but it will take time and commitment to live into them. Further, some amendments will be transitional, and additional ones should be on the horizon. For example, in my opinion, the size of the Church Council is probably too large, and there needs to be fewer members nominated by synods without any consideration of governance needs or expertise. Another example is the LIFT recommendation for gatherings between Churchwide Assemblies that are non-legislative. This excellent recommendation still needs to be translated into reality!

The LIFT report also affirmed the underlying principle of interdependence, but concluded that the role of synods and mission support need to be revised. Efforts to work on these important issues have been disappointing and will remain fundamental challenges as this church moves forward.

In my initial report to the Churchwide Assembly in 2009, I held out a vision of synergistic leadership among ordained ministers and lay persons for the proclamation of the Gospel and service to the neighbor. I said: “I also believe that one of the keys to the long term success (not just survival) of this church is the development of lay leadership. Indeed, it is the development of both laypersons and clergy who work collaboratively to create synergistic, forward-thinking, missional leadership that is a key ingredient to the mission and ministries of this church.” I continue to believe that this observation is profoundly true, and significant steps have been and are being taken. The meetings of and collaboration among vice presidents is a vivid example of progress. But the progress is sometimes halting and the level of collaboration uneven. If we truly are to become the church that God is calling us to be, we must work pro-actively to develop synergistic leadership among lay and clergy in all the expressions of this church.

After six years as secretary, I also have been alternatively excited and disappointed at the superb ministry occurring in various places, but the lack of ability to develop and disseminate “best practices” is discouraging. This inconsistent cross-fertilization of best practices sometimes results in painful lessons learned on multiple occasions in different places—lessons that should be avoided. A vivid example of the failure to share best practices is the embezzlement experiences of six synods. On the other hand, wonderful experiences at some Synod Assemblies frequently are not replicated in other synods. How we can learn to share such experiences and expertise?

Still Looking for Signs

As many of you know, in my journeys I keep an eye open for signs—signs that illuminate or inform the ministry that we share. For example, my travels convince me that this church, as it approaches the 500th anniversary of the reformation, remains on the path of Martin Luther.

Indeed, as we proceed on this path, it is informative to reflect on what it means to be a Lutheran in the 21st century. The mosaic below is on the wall of my home congregation at St. Luke Lutheran Church in Park Ridge, Illinois. Frequently, on Sundays before worship, I reflect on its meaning in the ELCA today. I have concluded that, like Luther in the mosaic, we are a church of pastors, teachers, scholars, and preachers; taken together they mean that we are a church of reformers. It is a worthy legacy as we seek to be ambassadors for Christ bringing the ministry of reconciliation to all!

Conclusion

Since my election in 2007, I frequently have referred to service as secretary of this church as a multi-dimensional odyssey. That remains profoundly true as I anticipate the completion of my term and service. This odyssey has consisted of geographical and spiritual journeys, and I value all I have learned along the way. Indeed, the spiritual journey has been unforgettable because of your prayers and support and those of my colleagues in the churchwide organization. I especially appreciate and give thanks for my dedicated colleagues in the Office of the Secretary and on the Administrative Team and in the Office of the Presiding Bishop. In particular, I thank Presiding Bishop Hanson for his leadership and the work that we have participated in together, all of which have nurtured my faith and confidence in this church. I also want to thank my friends and colleagues on the Conference of Bishops, the Church Council, and synodical vice presidents and secretaries.

But perhaps most of all, these six years as secretary of the ELCA have taught me in a whole new way about “call” and baptismal vocation. I have felt called to this work, and will always be thankful for the opportunity to have responded to that call. But I also have learned that baptismal vocation is multi-dimensional. As Barbara and I now anticipate our return to Washington state, I am confident that we are living out our baptismal vocations in new and yet unexplored ways. We carry with us profound memories and a sense of thanksgiving for all that you have given us. We depart with the expectation that the Holy Spirit will continue to infuse and animate the work of this amazing church – this church of the resurrection, this church of the reformation, this church of reconciliation! Thanks be to God for you and for the ELCA!

The secretary is responsible for maintaining the official rosters of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). These include the rosters of congregations, ordained ministers, associates in ministry, deaconesses, and diaconal ministers.

Roster of Congregations

The ELCA counted 9,540 congregations on December 31, 2012, including 155 congregations under development. The record of those added to the roster of congregations is indicated in Table 1.

The record of removals from the roster of congregations by categories is shown in Table 2.

The process for withdrawal of a congregation is specified by constitutional provisions 9.62. and 9.71. in the Constitution, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

“Merged” is defined as involving a congregation giving up its separate identity and uniting with an already existing congregation (i.e., being merged into an existing congregation).

“Consolidated” is defined as involving two or more congregations that join together to become a new entity with a new name and a new congregation identification number (i.e., the congregations are consolidated to become a new congregation).

The roster of congregations is published annually in the yearbook of the ELCA, prepared by staff of the Office of the Secretary. Congregations that have been received into this church or that have been consolidated, merged, withdrawn, disbanded, or removed are listed at the end of the roster of congregations in the yearbook.

Change of Synodical Relationship

Any change in a congregation’s synodical relationship is to be reported to the Churchwide Assembly. As provided by ELCA bylaw 10.02.02., “Any congregation in a border area desiring to change its synod relationship may do so upon approval of the synod assemblies of the synods concerned, which shall report any such change to the Churchwide Assembly.”

No change in the synodical relationship of a congregation was reported in the 2011–2012 biennium.

Roster of Ordained Ministers

As of December 31, 2012, the roster of ordained ministers of this church listed a total of 16,632 ordained ministers (active and retired). Included in that number were 3,913 women and 722 persons of color or whose primary language is other than English.

Additions to the roster of ordained ministers take place only in the ways defined by the constitution and bylaws of the ELCA. Those specific ways are:

1. Individuals who are ordained in accord with the constitution and bylaws of this church in effect at the time of their ordinations, after having been approved by a duly constituted synodical candidacy committee and having received and accepted a regular, attested Letter of Call to be a pastor.
2. Individuals received:
  - a. Individuals approved by a synodical candidacy committee who previously were ordained in another Lutheran church body or another Christian church body, under bylaw 7.31.14., whose ordination is recognized by this church under the policy that addresses such recognition. Others would be ordained by this church under the policy of such reception.
  - b. Individuals received, under churchwide bylaw 8.72.15.c., through the candidacy process for the roster of ordained ministers who were ordained in a full-communion partner church body.
3. Individuals reinstated to the roster of ordained ministers, under churchwide bylaw 7.31.15., who previously were ordained in this church or one of its predecessor church bodies.

* Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada

As was the case in predecessor church bodies, including those that existed prior to 1960, unauthorized or irregular ordinations are not recognized.

Only ELCA clergy called: In keeping with the criteria for membership in the ELCA, congregations agree to call as pastors only ordained ministers on the ELCA roster or duly approved candidates for the roster (churchwide constitutional provision 9.21.d. and bylaw 9.21.01.).

Partner church clergy under contract: Service by ordained ministers from full-communion partner church bodies is addressed in churchwide bylaws 8.72.15. and 9.21.02. and takes place under contract with the approval of the synodical bishop. Such ministers are not eligible for call by an ELCA congregation.

Added to roster: Only the names of individuals ordained or received in conformity with the governing documents and policy statements in place at the time of the ordination or reception are added to the roster of ordained ministers of the ELCA.

The names of people added to and removed from the roster of ordained ministers are listed annually in the yearbook of the ELCA. The number of additions to the roster of ordained ministers and removals from that roster are shown in Table 3.

Percentages of pastors who are women as part of the whole clergy roster (active and retired) and as part of the active roster for 1993 through 2010 appear in Table 4.

Official Rosters of Laypersons

This church has established three rosters of laypersons. They are associates in ministry, deaconesses, and diaconal ministers.

The names of those approved by the ELCA for admission to the roster of associates in ministry, the roster of deaconesses, and the roster of diaconal ministers—as well as the names of those removed from those rosters—are listed annually in the yearbook of the ELCA.

As of December 31, 2012, the roster of associates in ministry numbered 980 people (see Table 5).

The roster of deaconesses numbered 61 women as of December 31, 2012 (see Table 6). This figure does not include those in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada.

Diaconal ministers, as of December 31, 2012, numbered 180 people (see Table 7). The roster of diaconal ministers, established by the 1993 Churchwide Assembly, was started in 1996 with the consecration of seven people.

Congregations Organized, Returned, Received, Consolidated, or Merged 2011–2012 Appendix N

Congregations organized, returned, received, consolidated, or merged prior to 2013 but not previously reported in minutes of a Churchwide Assembly are included in this list. The ELCA congregation identification number (in parentheses) follows the name of each congregation.

“Merged” is defined as involving a congregation giving up its separate identity and uniting with an already existing congregation (i.e., being merged into an existing congregation).

“Consolidated” is defined as involving two or more congregations that join together to become a new entity with a new name and a new congregation identification number (i.e., the congregations are consolidated to form a new congregation).

Congregations Removed, Disbanded, or Withdrawn 2011–2012*Appendix O

Congregations removed, disbanded, or withdrawn prior to 2013 but not previously reported in minutes of Churchwide Assemblies are included in this list. The ELCA congregation identification number (in parentheses) follows the name of each congregation.

The process for withdrawal of a congregation is specified by constitutional provisions 9.62. and 9.71. in the Constitution, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.
