

JOURNAL OF LUTHERAN ETHICS

www.elca.org/jle

What is the Journal of Lutheran Ethics?

The Journal of Lutheran Ethics (JLE) is a free, monthly online publication living out the Lutheran tradition of addressing social issues theologically, using the resources of historical, theological, and ethical tradition, biblical interpretation, and social sciences.

A bridge between the academic study of Christianity and the contemporary life of the Church, JLE is a meeting place for scholars and professors, seminary and university students, pastors and bishops, and theologically informed lay persons, advocates, and activists. JLE is updated monthly, and JLE members can sign up to receive notice of updates.

How can I subscribe to JLE?

Go to www.elca.org/jle and click "Subscribe to JLE."

How can I submit an article to JLE?

JLE encourages various types of subscriptions and welcomes unsolicited articles. For specific submission guidelines, visit www.elca.org/jle and click on "Submit an Article." Each issue follows a predetermined theme; for a list of themes, contact one of the editorial staff.

Want to get in touch?

If you have further questions about the Journal of Lutheran Ethics, please contact a member of the editorial staff.

The Rev. Dr. James Kenneth Echols, Editor
james.echols@elca.org • 773.380.2894

Ryan P. Cumming, Book Review Editor
ryanpcumming@gmail.com

Maggie Olson, Editorial Assistant
margaret.olson@elca.org • 773.380.2608

Check it out! • www.elca.org/jle

JLE
JOURNAL OF
LUTHERAN ETHICS
DELIBERATION. SCHOLARSHIP. WITNESS.