

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America
God's work. Our hands.

We are Lutherans
ELCA Presiding Bishop Elizabeth Eaton Weekly Video Message

What do you think of when you think of a Lutheran? Do you think of somebody who originated in Europe perhaps, or maybe just the folks in your own congregation? It turns out that we are part of a large Lutheran family. Millions and millions of us all around the world.

I had a chance to be with some of that family when members of the Lutheran World Federation gathered in Rome for dialogue and conversation with the Vatican. And I'd like you to meet some of your Lutheran family. And when you say, "I'm a Lutheran," just remember, they're all saying it too, in all of these languages.

I'm a Lutheran.
I'm a Lutheran.
I'm a Lutheran.
I'm a Lutheran.
I'm a Lutheran.

Along with all these members of the family, I can say, "I'm a Lutheran."

Peace. Be well, dear church.
